INSTRUCTIONS

1. First, “deglaze” the leather/PU material before painting by wiping the bags with rubbing alcohol. Removing the shiny finish helps the paint adhere better.
2. Less opaque colors may need more coats than others.
3. Paint a first coat of white to make the colors brighter.
4. It’s best to paint several thin layers rather than lay the paint on thickly.
5. Mix colors to get the perfect shade!
6. Make sure each layer is dry to the touch before painting another coat or details on top.
7. It’s helpful to stuff the bag with newspaper so that the painting surface is sturdy and flat.
8. Sketch the design out first using Posca markers.
9. Between colors, wash your brush with water and dry thoroughly on a paper towel (or use a different brush for each color).
